

Dr. Tammie Ferringer is the Section Head for Geisinger Medical Laboratory's dermatopathology subspecialty section in Danville, Pennsylvania. She is also an Associate in the Department of Dermatology at Geisinger Medical Center and serves as the director of the Dermatopathology Fellowship Program. She has served on, or chaired, several committees of the AAD, APD, ABD, ASDP, ISDP, ACGME, and ABP. Her current editorial roles include the JAAD and Cutis. She has directed or moderated over twenty courses or sessions and been an invited speaker for more than 80 domestic and international lectures on a variety of topics, including tropical and infectious disease, adnexal tumors, and immunohistochemistry. Her current literary contributions include over 50 journal articles or textbook chapters, co-editor of a dermatopathology textbook, and co-author of an online and mobile dermatopathology application.